

THURSTON TALKS.

Believes McKinley Will Be Presidential Nominee.

WORKING PEOPLE ARE FOR HIM.

Represents Will Reorganize the Senate—Thinks the Populist Members of the Senate Will Vote With the Republicans—Russell B. Harrison Refuses to Talk Politics.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Senator John N. Thurston of Nebraska is at the Fifth Avenue hotel. In an interview he said: "The Republicans of Nebraska are for McKinley for the next presidential candidate first, last and all the time."

"The strength of the Ohio man in the west comes from the fact that the working people believe in him. They know that under the McKinley law they were getting more pay than they are getting now. Business was generally speaking better. They are satisfied that McKinley had something to do with it and they want to vote for him for president."

"Do you think that the Republicans will be able to organize the United States senate at the coming session?" he was asked.

"Yes," he replied, "I believe we will be strong enough to assume control. I have been in Washington for a week and can say that at the opening of the next session the Republicans will start in and organize that body. I believe that all the Populist members of the senate will vote with the Republicans this session. That is at least is the understanding among the leaders now, and I do think that anything will turn up to agree the programme."

Governor-elect Bushnell of Ohio is at the Holland House. In an interview he expressed the opinion that Governor McKinley would be the next Republican nominee for president.

Russell B. Harrison, son of General Harrison, is at the Imperial hotel. He said he could not talk politics at present.

The bodies bore the appearance of having been dead for several days. It is thought the murders were committed by Indians of that section to stop the slaughter of game.

Retires From the Ring—Thinks Maher a Great Fugitive.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—A special from Lynn, Mass., says James J. Corbett in an interview yesterday said: "I am disgusted with the entire business, and henceforth will confine my enterprises to the stage. No matter what the public may say, whether it be complimentary or otherwise, I can not be induced to again enter the arena."

"They may say that when I whipped Sullivan he was an old man, and that I never whipped a good man in my career, but I am fully determined in my purpose to quit. I suppose the public blames me for not pulling off the fight with Fitzsimmons, but I am not disposed to answer any criticism and will not discuss it."

"I bestowed the championship upon Maher because he is an Irishman and because I prefer he should bear and defend that title rather than place it in the custody of either an Australian or an Englishman. Up to the present I have declined to give my reasons for recognizing Maher, but you can print that as coming from me."

"I consider Peter Maher the peer of any man in the ring and have no hesitancy in saying that he can whip Fitzsimmons. He is a great man and he will one day demonstrate his right to bear the title of champion of the world."

A HORRIBLE TALE

Comes From a Correspondent In Constantinople.

WORST CRIME OF THE CENTURY

Sultan Gladly Signs the Reform Scheme and Immediately Thereafter Orders the Massacre of Armenians—Between 15,000 and 20,000 People Killed During Past Month and Multitudes in Want.

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—The following letter has been received in Boston from a reliable correspondent at Constantinople:

"The Turks have ordered some of the subjugated European papers to speak of these crimes as Armenian outbreaks, etc., but the ambassadors have full reports which they ought to publish that refute this and show conclusively that the sultan within a day or two after he signed the reform scheme ordered the Armenians to be massacred in order that there should be no question of an Armenian majority in any of the provinces. The people caught the spoils obtainable and so did not execute the sultan's wish to the fullest. But the loss of life was awful. Moreover, there seems to be no way of preventing more of the same sort."

"It is the most awful crime of the century because it is so persistently falsified by its authors. Everywhere the story is the same: a deliberate preparation and then a story sent to Europe that the Armenians attacked the unoffensive Turks and were reduced to order after a few had been killed."

Worse times are in store for us. Europe is divided in council, and the Turks, finding that nothing is done for this crime, will go on to extremities. The highest Moslem court has declared that the sultan can not lawfully be restrained in the exercise of his will, since he is the representative of God for the whole earth."

From 15,000 to 20,000 people have been slaughtered during the last month, and in consequence no less than 100,000 persons heretofore dependent on them for their daily food are now in want. The coming winter will witness a vast amount of suffering. It is not alone at Sassoun, but all over the land where these occurrences have taken place.

Worse Than Reported.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—A dispatch from Constantinople giving a general resume of the situation declares that the recent massacres put the earlier outrages of Sassoun and Monch entirely in the background. If either England, France or Russia should publish the stories reported officially by their cool-headed consuls all Europe would stand aghast at the proof, surprised to think such things possible. Wherever these consuls have investigated matters they have found that the accusations that the Armenians provoked the riots are false.

VERDICT RENDERED

IN THE LEADER STREET CONDEMNATION PROCEEDINGS.

Solicitor Crissinger, on behalf of the City, moves for a New Trial—The Nypano Receivership Case Comes Up for Hearing and Is in Progress.

Judge Smalley came down from Upper Sandusky Monday morning to hear the case of the City of Marion against Gregory and others.

The case was one brought to condemn property for the extension of Leader street and all the parties interested had come to terms with the city excepting the Johnsons, heirs, who own the old road bed of the Nypano from the C. C. C. and St. L. R. Co.'s right of way to the north line of Center street.

The case having been presented to the jury, the jury, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Gompf and Assistant City Engineer Jones, went out and viewed the premises.

Monday afternoon was spent in examining witnesses as to the value of the land taken and the damage done to the residue of the premises. George McGuire, Mrs. Lewis Trimble, Xavier Herman, Royal Fish and Harry True testified as to the damage done the Johnsons.

The case went to the jury before supper and they wrestled with it until 1 o'clock this morning when a verdict was arrived at and opened with Judge Norris on the bench this morning.

The finding is as follows: To Gregory $700 compensation for land taken and $300 damages, to the Johnson heirs $500 compensation and no damages, to The Marion Manufacturing company $350 compensation and no damages, to the C. C. C. and St. L. R. Co. $150 compensation and $2000 damages, to the N. Y. L. R. and W. R. R. Co., by its receivers, lessees of the N. Y. L. R. and O., by John Tod, its receiver, $150 compensation and $2000 damages, to T. Fahy $600 compensation and no damages, to the Aronhalt heirs $150 compensation and no damages, to D. Lawrence $1050 compensation and no damages, to Isabella Boger $30 compensation and $70 damages and to H. A. Boger $30 compensation and no damages.

City Solicitor Crissinger immediately upon the reading of the verdict made a motion for a new trial against the Johnson heirs and the two railroads.

The case of John Huffman, an infant, by Jacob Huffman, against the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio Railroad company and others, came up before Judge Norris this morning on a notice to the court that application would be made for the appointment of a receiver for said road.

Scotfield, Purlee & Scotfield represented the plaintiff, and J. A. Russell, of Cleveland, and J. F. McNeal & Sons represented the defendant.

Mr. Russell opened up the case and stated that on the pleadings, had no receiver already been appointed by a court of concurrent jurisdiction, it would be impossible to appoint a receiver in this action for the reason that that was not the remedy provided by law for a judgment creditor.

Mr. Russell having finished his argument, the court adjourned until tomorrow morning, Judge Norris being compelled to go to Upper Sandusky to hear a case at that place.

When Judge Norris arrived at Upper Sandusky he found that the case which he had been called there to hear had been settled, and so he came back to Marion and took up the case again about 3 o'clock this afternoon, instead of tomorrow morning, and the hearing of the matter is progressing as we go to press.

Georgia Trimble and Isabella Boalt, by their attorney, Geo. D. Copeland, filed an answer in the court of common pleas, Monday, in the case of the City of Marion against Gregory.

CATTLE FEEDING

Experiments Made by the Ohio Agriculture Experiment Station.

Bulletin 60 of the Ohio Experiment Station gives the results of two experiments in feeding steers, made during the late winter and spring months of 1891 and 1892, in which 17 three-year-old cattle were fed for a period of five months, being finally finished on grass and sold in the Pittsburg market.

These cattle were grade steers of mixed breeding, and would rank as quite ordinary feeding cattle. The average increase during five months was a little less than two pounds per day and the cost of this increase was about eight cents per pound, but this cost would have been considerably more than covered by an advance in price of one cent per pound on the original live weight, an advance considerably smaller than the average to be expected from the statistics of past market.

The bulletin contains a chapter on the chemistry of cattle feeding, with tables and formulae for the calculation of rations, and a discussion of the value of the manure obtained in feeding, with tables showing the relative manurial and feeding values of the feeding stuffs in ordinary use.

The experiments indicated considerable advantage in feeding gluten meal, rather than linseed oil meal at the prices for the two feeding stuffs then prevailing; gluten meal giving, apparently, as good results, pound for pound, as old process oil meal, and being considerably lower in price. The finishing period did not extend beyond six weeks, was attended with considerable loss, the cattle kept in the barn and barnyard until the 10th or middle of June making a better gain than those which were turned on grass the first of May, although the grazing steers were still fed all the grain they would consume, which amounted to nearly as much as that eaten by the steers kept at the barn.

The results show a wide range in the productiveness of different cattle, the 11 poorest steers requiring 50 per cent more food for a pound of increase than the 11 best ones. Even the poorest steers yielded a handsome profit, however, if the manure made is valued at the market price of its fertilizing constituents, as such constituents are sold in Ohio in the form of commercial fertilizers.

RAILROAD NOTES.

A new bridge is being placed across the C. H. V. and T. north of this city. Eastbound Big Four passenger No. 26 was 2 hours and 20 minutes late, being detained by the wires being blown down and across the track to the west of Bellefontaine.

The Erie brought in a special car with thirty passengers for Atlanta this morning. They came through from Pittsburgh and took dinner at the C. and E. eating house.

For two weeks in November the passenger earnings of the Big Four increased $2,730, freight earnings increased $6,841; mail earnings increased $1,351, a total increase of $10,776.

The Big Four management has notified all connections that its cars cannot go off its own lines to be loaded, as every car they can command is needed to accommodate shippers on their own system.

Station Inspectors. A notice is posted on the telegraph office which orders all employees of the Big Four from Cleveland to Columbus and Bellefontaine to report in Cleveland to be examined in hearing and color sense as soon as possible. It includes engine men, train men and yard men.

The new postoffice cars on the Erie are the finest ever seen in this section of the country. They are about seventy feet in length, well lighted and each car contains from three to four mail agents. The agents change here. They run from Salamanca to this point and then to Chicago, but this is a division point with the men.

The Daily News. Of Kenton, will take a second of its popular personally conducted excursion parties to Atlanta Monday, Dec. 31. The party will be favored with special coaches and low rates for all features of the trip. Stop-over at Chattanooga, tally-ho ride over Chickamauga National Park, spending the night at famous Lookout Inn on Lookout mountain; also a day's trip through Mammoth Cave, the eighth wonder of the world. Pamphlet giving full information can be had at the Star office. A representative of the Daily News will be at the Star office Wednesday afternoon the 27th, and invite you to call and learn further particulars.

Thanksgiving Excursion. Tickets on sale via Big Four Route November 27 and 28, good returning November 29, at one and one-third fare for round trip to points within one hundred miles.

A C. BOYD, Agent. The Erie will sell tickets at 1 fare for the round trip Nov. 27 and 28, and return limit Nov. 29 to all points within 100 miles of Marion.

M. E. PICKERSON, Agent. Big bargains can be had in rail carments this week at railfairs.

SHORT LINE ENGINE

Has a Mishap in the Local Yard—The Fireman Hurt.

Engine 15, pulling a through freight on the C. and E., was badly disabled here Monday night. In the northern part of the Marion yards is located the coal dock, and an apron of the dock was down and in passing struck the cab and knocked it off the engine, derailing the locomotive. Engineer Barker reversed his engine and jumped, as also did his fireman.

The glass from the cab window struck the fireman in the face and he was badly cut and lacerated, but by jumping saved himself from further injury. The engineer escaped without a scratch. It was a pretty close call all around and the engine was badly damaged. The cab was knocked over on the fireman, but he succeeded in getting out from under it.

Orley Johnston kills a Deer.

O. W. Johnston is off with a party of Van Wert friends on a hunting trip. The Van Wert Bulletin publishes the following correspondence from the camp of the hunters:

Business has opened in earnest in this camp. This morning the first deer was brought in. The honor of killing the "first deer" belongs to O. W. Johnston and the greater glory is his, because he belongs to what the sportsmen hunters call the "tender foot class." O. W. bears his honor with great modesty, but you might say, to his many friends at home that he took time in an assurance around the chest several inches in width when he left Van Wert.

Literary Notes.

Appropos of the admission of Utah as a state, Mr. Glen Miller, a resident of Salt Lake City, contributes an article to the December Forum under the title "Has the Mormon Church Re-entered Politics?" answering the question in the negative. The article contains a remarkable letter from the presidents of the Mormon church, written expressly by them for use in the Forum.

Among other interesting Lincoln material, the December McClure's contains a hitherto unpublished account of how Lincoln, at the risk of his life, saved three men from drowning during a spring freshet. This happened when he was a young man of twenty-two, and was at Sangamon, building the flatboat, or his trip to New Orleans.

To read Professor A. H. Sayce's description, in the Sunday School Times of November 23, of the disappearance of one of the largest and earliest of the temples which still stand in the valley of the Nile, is almost like reading a chapter from the Arabian Nights. As the well-known scholar is speaking, as a rule, of the past, it is not surprising that he should have been so dramatically painted in colors and words.

At the election at the Rockcastle Lodge, 100 E. T. No. 14, on Nov. 22, the following officers were chosen: Jacob Berry, Noble Grand; Samuel Cole, Vice Grand; J. M. Reizen, corresponding secretary; William Fick, permanent secretary; Paul Isenbaker, treasurer.

A. H. King, Elmer Lamb and J. L. Magruder, trustees.

Fred Iselsch secured the support of the lodge for representative to the grand lodge.

OBITUARY

BRITTON—In Big Island township, Marion county, O., Nov. 22, 1895, James Britton, aged 61 years 9 months and 6 days.

He was born on the farm where he died. His parents' names were William and Sarah Britton. He was united in happy marriage with Miss Lydia McNabb January 16, 1857. To them were born four sons and four daughters, of whom two sons and two daughters preceded the father to the grave. He was industrious, economical and honest, he loved home, its interests, quiet pleasures and peaceful retreat. He loved the Lord Jesus and endeavored to lead a Christian life. He became a member of the Pleasant Hill M. E. church which church relation he worthily held until death. The last illness was of some weeks' duration, dying of typhoid pneumonia. He knew the end was drawing near, called his family about his bedside, gave them a fond farewell and assured them that "all is well with me." His funeral service was held at the Pleasant Hill church Sunday afternoon, Nov. 24, and was very largely attended. Rev. Sutton delivered the sermon, assisted by Rev. D. W. Huffman. The bereaved desire to thus sincerely thank all those who so kindly did all in their power to aid and comfort them throughout the illness and ease the death of their loved one.

FASHION NOVELTIES.

THE LATEST STYLES FOR BALL GOWNS.

A Dainty Opera Hood—New Laces—All sorts of Trimmings—The Graceful Princess Dress—Large Bias Plaids—Black Satin Still Worn.

(Special Correspondence.)

New York, Nov. 25.—The newest and in my opinion the prettiest stuff for ball gowns is a chiffon brilliant, which is certainly striking. The material, though so filmy, is indecent, and often there is a wavy pattern stamped over it, much like more in effect. It looks very pretty in the piece, but far prettier when made up and floating with the movement of the wearer. It is a trifle softer than the plain chiffon. Made up after the model shown me, no young girl could ask for more. The skirt was gathered full at the waist. At the foot of the skirt there was a self puffing, with gathered edges all around. The waist was gathered very full and had a metallic blue ribbon belt. To this were attached two ends of the same ribbon, which fell 12 inches, to be knotted into a rich bow with long ends. At the upper side of the bow was a small bunch of pale blue morning glories striped with pink. A row of the same ephemeral flowers reached across the front of the corsage, ending under several loops of the ribbon on the left shoulder. The sleeves were draped balloon puffs. The whole outline in the pattern had a silvery greenish sheen. The whole dress was a model of simplicity and girlish grace.

To wear with this dress—and I presume with many others—there was a short cape of myrtle green faille, faced in front with rose leaf, pink faille. This same was employed to make a plaited ruffle around the neck. In front, where it fastened, there was a jabot of knife-plaited crepe de soie in pale blue, just the shade of the morning glories. Now, a cape requires a certain quantity of material, and it costs no more to have it made a gown than to buy of different sorts, and when it looks so much prettier to have it match there is no excuse for not observing the dictates.

A dainty hood for ball or opera was of pale blue chiffon, with ribbons to match. The chiffon was used as a doubled ruffle all around. The bow was placed on the top and over the crown there was a clasp of wide oriental lace in very delicate pattern. This is an extremely airy head, far more becoming than the huge velvet hood lined with quinine that Mrs. Potter showed us.

Among the lace for the decoration of very light material is the "edged by silk" or "no lace." It is so feathery and filmy that the slightest touch of air displays its delicate pattern. The soft fiber silk takes this kind of lace as a trimming as if it were made on purpose for such requirements. Liberty silk ties have edgings of this kind, and they are very dry. So a dress made of silk must be edged with this lace. Velvet collars and fancy gowns and other apparel are decorated with this lace, and it is a very beautiful thing. I could have thought possible.

The princess dress holds its own and is always graceful. There was a slant away from a princess dress for visiting and walking. The skirt was severely plain. There were two plaistings of white satin, one at the waist and the other at the hem. These were intended to imitate long lines. It had a scalloped white satin collar, that put it on the edges. To this was a high collar of the satin. The sleeves were simple, elegant. The effect was not only dressy, but elegant.

WATER-RESISTANT GOWN.

The lace has plaistings more and more often. Some of them, particularly those in the shades of brown, green, grey and fawn, are very good. One model shown for very expensive visiting was of dull green, rust red and white in a very large pattern. It was all lace, the skirt entirely plain, but any lace will make. The waist was a simple bodice, with two deep pockets at the front and a pocket at the back.

There is a growing demand for black and a good quality for houseworn dresses, and these are the half-way and with well-silk and a good quality for black and white. The skirt is of black and white. The skirt is of black and white.

A HOWLING SUCCESS!

WAS THE STORM THAT RAGED ALL MONDAY NIGHT.

Everything Loose Gets a Terrible Shaking Up--Buildings Tumbled, Fences and Trees Blown Down--Much Damage Done Throughout the County.

There was a storm Monday night, and that's no lie, would say the small boy, if he was asked in regard to the winds of Monday night and this morning. The wind blew at its best until early this morning and there were but few who were awakened from their slumbers by the terrific noise that it made. Boxes were picked up by the gale and hurled the distance of a square, fences were laid low all over the city, some trees were broken down and window glasses and awnings suffered in several parts of the city.

Mr. Cull's new house on Main avenue was partially demolished. The frame work was just up and the wind tore it down from the inside, but the damage was not extensive.

The boards that had been placed in the windows at the Presbyterian church were blown in.

Monday evening the wind blew the awning down in front of the McMurray & Fisher Sully company office and the awning struck the front and mashed in the glass. It did considerable damage to the front.

The wires of the telegraph companies were nearly all down this morning and it was hard for the operators to attend to the business of the company.

The most damage done by the storm was to the railroad companies. Besides the wires being down it tore the roofs from the box cars and otherwise created damage about the yards.

Manager Nell, of the Western Union, is authority for the statement that there was trouble on every line running into this city this morning and that no Western Union line was working up to 3 o'clock, excepting the wire from Gallon to Dayton.

The awnings about town were badly shaken up and some of them torn down and the gilded spear on Warner & Edward's flag pole was blown away during the night.

Word was received from LaRue that the wind was terrific at that place and fences, sheds and corn in the shock were scattered broadcast. The house of Obadiah Jones, residing south of LaRue, had the chimneys blown down, part of the roof blown off and the barn near to the house was badly damaged, the roof, especially, being torn.

At Espyville a barn was blown over and the roofs of the Espyville Brick company's plant were blown away. Other damage was done in that part of the county, fences and hay stacks being promiscuously blown around.

At Agosta the damage was not extensive. Chimneys, fences, hay stacks and such articles were blown down, but to no very great extent, although the storm raged there very fiercely.

At Prospect awnings, fences and trees were blown down, but the storm was not so severe as at this place. It was much greater, however, north and west of Marion than was experienced elsewhere in the county. At Upper Sandusky several large buildings were badly damaged.

Dr. E. H. Raffensperger watched the barometer during the progress of the storm and says that it went down as low as 29.47. This is the lowest that he has ever seen the barometer at this place.

Contemplate a Pleasant Party.

Supt. Bliss is in receipt of a letter from Supt. Arthur Powell, of Marion, saying that reduced rates have been secured for the Tiffin meeting and that about twenty Marion teachers will attend and that they hope to meet as many from Bucyrus and form a pleasant party for the trip.

As this meeting is particularly for teachers of graded schools it is hoped that all teachers who are inclined to be really progressive and to give the best of service to their patrons will endeavor to attend.

Leopard Hunters Find Mangled Remains of Three Hogs.

The following was sent out to the city papers from Upper Sandusky, under date of November 25:

Yesterday being a bright, pleasant day, a great number of farmers, armed with guns and all other conceivable weapons, turned out in quest of the escaped leopard, which is terrorizing the denizens of southern Wyandot and northern Marion counties. Every bit of woods in the vicinity of LaRue was scoured. Dogs were urged through hollow logs and into suspicious holes and caves and all sorts of underbrush were thoroughly and scrupulously searched. The only evidence of the leopard was the discovery of three dead hogs, which, according to their mangled condition, were killed by the leopard.

Two hunters, Frank Gear and Ray Demarest, who have just returned from a week's hunt between LaRue and Marseilles, report having seen the animal Saturday. They claim that it attacked their dog and would have killed the canine had they not scared the animal away by shooting at it. They believe they wounded it, for when the gun was discharged the animal gave a terrific howl and when gone they found blood on the ground and by further blood droppings traced it through the woods and across the Kenton highway fully a mile.

A farmer in town this morning claimed that the leopard is again in the county, having been seen twice yesterday in Marseilles township.

BOTH GRAY AND BLUE

PROPOSAL FOR A MAGNIFICENT PARADE ON INDEPENDENCE DAY

Colonel Garnett's Suggestion For a Reunion in New York on July 4, 1896—Approved Heartily by Southern Veterans. A Spectacle That Will Be Worth Seeing.

We are pleased that our patriotic fellow citizen, Colonel Garnett, once a Confederate soldier, has taken up our suggestion for the holding of a grand reunion of veterans in New York. We accept at once the amendments to our original suggestion which Colonel Garnett has made. He would not confine the parade to the veterans of the Confederacy living in the city, but would bring here from the south as many of their brethren as would like to join the grand march. This is a larger and finer thought than that which we had in mind. Again, instead of making the parade one of Confederate veterans only, he would unite both Union and Confederate veterans in it. This is a most patriotic and noble conception. It is an inspiration of the new Americanism. We can but trust that his ideas will be realized. Perhaps it might be a fine thing to put the Union contingent under a Confederate officer, General Longstreet or Colonel Garnett, for example, and the Confederate contingent under a Union officer, General Daniel E. Sickles, for example. What a spectacle that would be for Broadway and the Bowery, for Avenue D and Fifth and Sixth avenues! Let the veterans rally on the Battery, from which the British troops took their departure 112 years ago, let them encamp on Harlem heights, also called Fort Mifflin, with the ramp of the immortal Virginian.

Colonel Garnett thinks that the parade of the gray and the blue, vanquished and victors, should take place on the Fourth of July next, a day that knows no north, no south, no east, no west. It is a choice of which we fully approve. That parade upon Independence day of 1896 would be a novel and glorious episode in the history of New York.

We should like to see The Sun's suggestion, as wisely amended by Colonel Garnett, taken up by the city government, the regiments of the national guard, the chamber of commerce, the board of trade and all the great patriotic and business organizations in the city. If they do their duty in this case, the parade will surely be held, a parade of unity and honor, peace and Americanism, that will thrill the soul of our country.

We learn from Colonel Garnett's letter in yesterday's Sun that he has taken the pains to ascertain the sentiment of the Confederate veterans in the south upon the subject, and that their judgment is wholly favorable. "I beg leave to say," he remarks in his letter published by us with previous reference, "that the idea has met with the most unqualified approval in all directions."

This being the case, it is time to begin to make preparations for the grand and auspicious event the more especially as the business of preparation must extend over the whole country.

What, then, is needed at this time? Colonel Garnett has answered the question. "The thing now wanted is the formation of a committee to arrange the details of the demonstration." This suggestion is the right one. We say that the committee ought to be made up of military and commercial men, men of the Union and Confederate veterans from north and south among us.

The occasion is one which in view of the great interest of thousands of men, may be said to be the nation's and the chamber of commerce and all patriotic organizations.

It will be a spectacle for the world to see. I do not mean next Independence day in New York, does her city and that with American flags—New York Sun.

SKETCHES BY M. QUAD

After Fifteen Years.

A big man with shaggy eyebrows and a fighting jaw entered a shoeshop on Michigan avenue, and after looking all around and closely scanning the proprietor, he said:

"You are not the man who ran this shop 15 years ago?"

"No."

"Are you his son, brother or any relation?"

"No."

"Where is the man?"

"He is dead."

"What—dead?"

"Dead 14 years. Owe you anything?"

"No. I owed him something. I owed him the all freest looking a man ever got, and I came in to give it to him today."

"Well, you are too late. Why did you wait so long?"

"He was a big fellow and had a bad look to him. I was only a boy when I came in here one day 15 years ago to have a lift put on the heel of my boot. I accidentally upset some of his traps, and he put the lift somewhere else. I told him I'd grow for him, and that's what I've been doing."

"Sorry for you," said the shoemaker as he shaved away at a piece of sole leather.

"It's a mean trick! It's 15 years thrown dead away! Have his heirs any claim on the shop?"

"None whatever."

"And you are not related?"

"Not in the least."

"Then I couldn't punch your head on the old account?"

"Merely, no! Might as well punch the man next door."

"Well, I'm sorry, but I don't see how it can be helped. I suppose I ought to have kept closer track of him. You don't want to stand up before me?"

"Oh, no! no! no!"

"Well, good day. I'd like to give you one punch for the sake of the departed, but I'll let you off this time!"

The Barber Tumbled.

A man who appeared to be at least 65 years old and was lame and gray and almost toothless entered a Michigan avenue barber shop the other day and said:

"Guess I'll kinder slick up a little for the winter campaign. Guess you may shave me?"

"See here," said the barber as the old man got seated in the chair. "Let me go ahead and fix you up just as if you were going to get married tonight."

"S'y, did anybody tell y?" whistled the old man.

"No, not exactly."

"But y'n tumbled?"

"Y'n."

"Kunder give myself away by acting so colic, eh?"

"That's it."

"Well, it's coming off tonight, and I suppose I ought to be a little. How old would you judge I am?"

"Well, you're you have sort of gone to seed by neglecting your appearance. I can fix you so you won't look a day older than—than 30."

"You can? How much?"

"Well, shaving, hair cutting and dyeing will cost you $1.50."

"Go in! Pay on a little extra dye and oil it $2! Guess I do look pretty old in the face, but you fix me up there and I'll throw away this case, rub up my legs with lard, and for the rest of my life I'll remember a real car with its stopping or break, my back trying!"

THE SUPREME COURT DECIDES THE CASE OF MARSHALL S. BURDGE

The Judgment of the Marion County Court Affirmed—The Sensational Forgery Case Now at an End—The Sentence Is for Three Years.

The supreme court today rendered a decision which ends all litigation in connection with the sensational forgery case of Marshall S. Burdge, the Montgomery township farmer. The history of the case is too familiar to need reference at this time. Burdge was convicted after a hard legal battle, fought desperately by Prosecuting Attorney Mouser and John A. Wolford on behalf of the state, with Thos. E. Powell, of Columbus, and J. B. McNeal, of this city, defending the prisoner, who was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

The case was appealed to the supreme court and argued a couple of weeks since by Attorney Powell and Prosecuting Attorney Mouser.

The petition in error attacked the indictment of Prosecutor Mouser, charged error in the admission of the note upon which the prosecution was founded as evidence, charged error in the admission of enlarged photographs by the prosecution to emphasize the forgery, error was also claimed in the judge's charge in reference to the satisfaction of the judgment, obtained by Burdge at Ironton on the note in question, that the court made it the duty of the jury to decide whether or not he satisfaction of the judgment was the voluntary act of the defendant. The state claimed that the testimony in reference to the satisfaction of the judgment was conflicting, and for that reason the judge's charge is free from error.

In the face of the strong legal fight waged in behalf of the prisoner in order to obtain for him a new trial, the decision of the supreme court is most gratifying to the prosecution, and Attorney Grant Mouser was extremely gratified when he received a telegram this afternoon announcing a decision in his favor.

While the case has been pending in the supreme court Burdge has been confined in jail, making nearly eleven months of confinement.

The Three Agreed.

It was early in the week when the three parties met in the pumpkin patch adjoining the cranberry marsh.

Great and important questions arose as to the best mode of delivering up nature to the greedy monster that was sure to devour them.

So they all began of one accord to make arrangements but a mutual agreement must be the end as they were soon to act in perfect unison.

After some council it was decided that each might have a local preference, but all acts as concerning the general good should be unanimous, so the turkey wished to be brought in whole. The pumpkin wanted its pie like a trout, and the cranberry asked to be served in a bowl.

And the wish of them all as they took their stroll was to be thoroughly cooked with Haley's good oil.

CRYSTAL WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harvey Celebrate Their Fifteenth Anniversary.

The fifteenth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harvey was celebrated at their pleasant country home, four miles northeast of this city, Monday evening, November 25. About seventy-five invited guests were present and enjoyed one of those royal feasts and entertainments for which the Harvey home is noted.

The much esteemed couple were remembered in a number of pretty and valuable presents.

One of the noted features of the occasion was the highly appreciated and jolly trip of about twenty gentlemen and ladies who occupied a single rig from Marion, alternately riding and walking through a beating storm of rain and wind, through a sea of mud.

It was real fun to see Representative Hensley, Penitentiary Guard Finch, Andrew Sauter and A. C. Walters wading mud and lifting a massive coach to keep it from upsetting into a ditch. So perilous was the situation that it almost made the hair stand on end, on top of Andrew Sauter's head. So enjoyable was the whole affair that some did not reach their homes until 10 a. m. this morning, having spent the night to the music of a howling storm without, while within all was merry as wedding bells.

The affair was a very brilliant one, notwithstanding the incidents of the journey.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

The Steam Shore company will commence its annual invoice next week.

The quarterly examinations of the public schools will close Wednesday.

H. N. Love has purchased the Harry R. Young property on east Church street.

P. Kelly acted as deputy sheriff, Monday, in the absence of Deputy Sheriff Gump.

There was an important meeting of the Board of Directors, Monday night.

The Huber Gun club will shoot for turkeys Thanksgiving morning at 9 o'clock, on the Huber club grounds, Farmington street.

The Amy Lee company, numbering ten people, were in the city for three hours this forenoon. They were en route to Chicago.

The date of dedicating the new Union church, one mile and half this side of Cochran, has been postponed until December 15th. It was the intention to dedicate the new structure on December 1st.

Rev. L. E. Brown, of Hamilton, Ohio, has been engaged to give a lecture here for the Junior Order of American Mechanics. The date has not been fixed, but it is thought that he will be brought here on December 2.

The Dayton foot ball team will arrive here about 1 o'clock Thursday, and will meet the Y. M. C. A. team at the fair grounds. The local team has some hopes of winning from the Dayton men. Dayton has one of the best teams in the state.

F. E. Blake met with a serious misfortune at his gardens Monday night. The boiler sprung a leak and became red hot. Steam went down and had the night been colder very serious results would have followed. A Huber traction engine was obtained while repairs are being made.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis H. Harbeson and son, of Mansfield, spent Sunday in this city with relatives and friends. Mr. Harbeson is chief bookkeeper for the Aultman & Taylor company. He has many friends here who were pleased to meet him. It has been about eight years since he visited Marion, and was greatly surprised to see so many improvements since his last visit.

The case of C. C. Stoltz against Herman Blaich and Daniel Evans was occupying the attention of Squire McKinley's court this afternoon. The boys hired a tandem of Stoltz and he alleges that they damaged it to the amount of ten dollars. Blaich and Evans say they did not and refused to pay the amount. An effort is being made to settle the matter.

Thomas Forider, who lives alone in Pleasant township, and is a queer old fellow, was before Squire McKinley today for a warrant charging a man with stealing wood. The evidence was not very convincing and it was determined to proceed until more evidence was obtainable. Forider is a poor old soul, and had cut a quantity of wood for sale, but when he went to haul it away it was missing.

In the case of forcible detention tried before a jury of six in the court of Squire McKinley Monday afternoon, in which O. G. Briggs as agent for Silas W. Briggs brought suit against Charles Collins, charging him with unlawfully detaining property, the jury brought in a verdict for the plaintiff. This was the case in which Collins filed an affidavit that he could not get justice in Marion township.

Western Union Manager Neff had some little trouble Monday afternoon, over the setting of a telegraph pole at the Harmony corner. The contractor on the new building wanted the pole inclined to allow the scaffolding to be erected. The pole was moved and the water from the street ran into the cellar. At first it was thought that moving the pole allowed the water to run in but it was discovered that a heavy stone had been placed on the curb and pushed it away from the paving, thus letting the water through.

NOT JUST A GLIMPSE

BUT A COMPLETE VIEW OF THE NEW WOMAN.

She Came To Town in a Buggy Monday. Meeting the Gaze of the Curious Men. All the Time Maintaining Perfect Composure.

She has been here and ever since her advent has been the one topic of conversation. Who? Why, bless you, the new woman. Came in in a buggy. Arrived from the south Monday afternoon.

As stated above the citizens were more than surprised Monday afternoon when a handsome lady drove up in front of D. A. Frank & Co.'s and alighting made it manifest to the passersby that the new woman had arrived.

She was probably five feet six or seven, weighed about 150 pounds, not over 26 or 27 years of age and plump and rounded as a peach. These points were hardly to be noticed, however, for her attire was the one thing which attracted the attention of all.

Above the waist line her garment was in no way a departure from that worn by the rest of her sex but her skirt reached only to her knees and her legs were incased in trousers which were just about as loose as those worn by the dude back in the days of the spring-bottom trousers.

The trousers reached to the tops of the shoes and while the effect was far from pretty the costume surely was one which had many advantages over the ordinary garb of the sex for a rainy day like Monday.

SAM AND HENRY.

Meaning Beerbower and Hilderbrand Entertained Friends.

The twenty-fifth day of November of each year is always celebrated by Samuel Beerbower and Henry Hilderbrand, for on that date both of them received their wounds at Mission Ridge.

Usually Sam and Henry seek a quiet corner in some restaurant and eat oysters and talk the events of the old days over, but last year a departure was had and friends of both parties were invited to celebrate with them.

This year Henry suggested to Sam at lodge one night that the latter invite the members of the Encampment and entertain them. Sam accepted the suggestion and for a time it looked as if Henry was not to be allowed to do his part but finally it was arranged that both of them would entertain.

In accordance with the plan those gentlemen, Monday night, about 10 o'clock entertained eighteen friends, members of the Encampment, to the best that the Busy Bee afforded and a happier or jollier time never was had.

GEN. J. C. WHITTAKER

Of the Patriarchs Militant Will Be Here In January.

Captain John Brigle Monday night received a letter from Gen. J. C. Whittaker, commanding the Department of Ohio, Patriarchs Militant, I. O. O. F., stating that he will be in this city early in January to look over the ground and see what encouragement he might secure for the coming encampment. The local militants will look to our citizens to give him encouragement in every way possible as there are only about thirty members in the city and it will devolve upon them to look after the hundreds who are to be here.

It is General Whittaker's desire to make the Marion encampment one of the successful if not the most successful in the history of the order and how much his desire will be realized will depend greatly upon the visit which he will make here early in the new year.

IRREGULAR PROCEEDINGS

Charged Against the Justice Who Sent Turkey Thieves to Jail.

It was expected this morning that there would be an attempt made to have the three men who are in jail for stealing turkeys liberated. It is alleged by their friends that the action that sent them to jail was irregular. After their arrest they were taken before Squire Drake and pleaded not guilty, but as there was evidence enough to hold them, according to the opinion of the justice, he refused them the right of further trial until they came before the grand jury and bound them over to court in the sum of $500.

It was thought that habeas corpus proceedings would be brought to secure their release. What the investigation being made this forenoon led to has not been learned.

RECEIVER JOHN TOD

MAKES AFFIDAVIT AS TO THE FUTURE OF THE NYNANO.

The Erie To Take Possession of the Road Under Lease the First of Next Month. Great Capitalists Interested in the Scheme.

John Tod, of Cleveland, who was appointed receiver of the Nynano in the court of common pleas of Summit county on the 20th inst., this morning in the case of Hoffman against the Nynano and others, said in an affidavit read by attorney L. A. Russell, of Cleveland, that on the first of next month, by the agreement of all the bondholders and mortgage lienholders and the officials of the new Erie and the Nynano, that the Erie would take possession of the Nynano under a lease which had already been prepared.

He made affidavit further that the New York, Lake Erie and Western, the Chicago and Erie and the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio would be consolidated into one great railroad system just as soon as the present case was disposed of and that the new system would represent $500,000,000, and would probably be bonded for at least $175,000,000 to take up all the indebtedness of the three roads comprising the system.

His affidavit stated that for several years this plan had been under consideration and that the great capitalists of New York, London, Berlin, Brussels and Amsterdam were interested in the system.
